

Chosen Conduct Guidelines

We at Chosen count it a privilege and an honor to have you on our team! It is our prayer that God will speak to your hearts in a way that you feel compelled in the future to serve the needs of “the least of His children”, whether at home or abroad.

As you are aware, Chosen is a Christian organization, and as such, promotes certain standards of conduct and expects its representatives (all of us) to adhere to its guidelines while on a mission trip.

Chosen respectfully requests that your conduct at all times reflects the Christian beliefs that Chosen professes.

We fully recognize the need for some rest and relaxation after long and difficult days of work. We encourage everyone to look for ways to do this within the group, by engaging in activities that include other members of our team. Feel free to bring a game or share an activity with the group. Some of you may know some activities from church camp, VBS, etc.

While on a mission trip, you are an ambassador of Chosen, and what Chosen represents, but more importantly, you are an ambassador of Jesus Christ. You need to be aware that all eyes are on the team – the whole community knows we are in town – and we need to set a good example. We profess to be a Christian group before the authorities, and those whom we serve.

We ask that each of you adhere to these guidelines. Please be mindful of the fact that one of the main ways we evangelize is through our example.

Remember that we have a responsibility to parents, relatives, and church families who have supported us in many ways and sent us forth to serve on a Christian mission project.

We look forward to what God has prepared for us during our mission trip and the huge blessing the experience will bring not only to those whom we serve, but to our lives as well.
